

TELLING KENTUCKY'S STORY
KENTUCKY HUMANITIES COUNCIL, INC.
206 E. MAXWELL ST. • LEXINGTON, KY • 40508
(859) 257-5932 • (859) 257-5933 (FAX)
WWW.KYHUMANITIES.ORG

Michael Johnathon
WoodSongs Inc.
P O Box 200
Lexington, KY 40588

RE: Caney Creek Project Endorsement/Presentation Partnership

Dear Mr. Johnathon:

The Kentucky Humanities Council, Inc. enthusiastically endorses and supports your motion picture project, "Caney Creek: The Legend of Alice Lloyd."

The Kentucky Humanities Council is dedicated to telling Kentucky's stories with special attention to the untold stories of little known heroes -- people whose leadership, born of courage, conviction, and vision not only left their mark on Kentucky but whose legacy serves as an example of the power of education to change lives.

Alice Lloyd's story is a very Kentucky story that also is an important part of America's story. It's telling is past due. Using the film project to create an educational fund is not only exceptionally creative but is perfectly aligned with the spirit and mission of Alice Lloyd.

Anyone who knows Appalachian Kentucky understands that its land and people are home to countless against-the-odds but often unrecognized achievements. Alice Lloyd's story is based on her desire to make a difference in people's lives, but just as importantly, it is rooted in her deep and abiding love of the hard working and straight forward mountain people who called Caney Creek home. How she succeeded is as against-the-odds as it gets.

Sincerely yours,

Virginia G. Carter
Executive Director